

Australian Government

Australian Communications and Media Authority

Changing address? Notify your registrar

When your registration is up for renewal your Registrar will send you a renewal notice.

Notifying your Registrar of any changes to your postal address will help ensure you receive the renewal notice, which will enable you to renew your registration on time.

It is an offence under the Telecommunications Act 1997 to perform customer cabling work without a registration so don't forget to keep your registration up to date. Significant penalties may apply for performing customer cabling work without a current registration.

Further information can be found on www.acma.gov.au

acma industry