EVERY SECURITY BUSINESS NEEDS A SWM SYSTEM

Note on AS4801 and ISO45001

ASIAL has partnered with MITRATECH to configure a robust solution designed specifically for the security sector.

The MITRATECH system has been designed to meet the requirements of Australian standard AS4801 and safety standard ISO45001. It has been used by MITRATECH clients to gain and maintain third-party certification once implemented within their business.

This means that, once implemented, you could seek to gain certification provided by a third party and that certification is based on the management system you have in place and how you use and have implemented that management system.

This tailored system is available to ASIAL members only.
